

Truth in Tuition

Staffing Ratios

University of Utah students have a unique advantage of having more faculty members available to them, as compared to similar universities. In general, a group of 100 students at the University of Utah will have about 12 faculty members, as compared to only seven faculty members per 100 students in similar institutions.

University of Utah HR staffing, in terms of faculty support, has been lean and efficient. We are placing at only 77% of the average of other institutions of similar size and educational programs.

Due to streamlined processes, new technology, and organizational innovations the number of staff members in the University of Utah's HR office is fewer than half of HR staff in similar universities across the United States. We are able to provide high level of HR services with significantly lower costs.

